

Newcastle University

URBAN
DESIGN
GROUP

NCL MAUD EVENT

2012

MA Urban Design End of Year Event Temporary Urbanism

Where: Architecture Building, Quadrangle, Newcastle University

When: 07 September 2012 from 5:30 – 8:00pm

Please confirm your bookings by emailing Karen Johnson at Karen.johnson2@ncl.ac.uk

For more information visit:

<http://www.ncl.ac.uk/apl/engagement/activities/ExhibitionsandFestivals.htm>

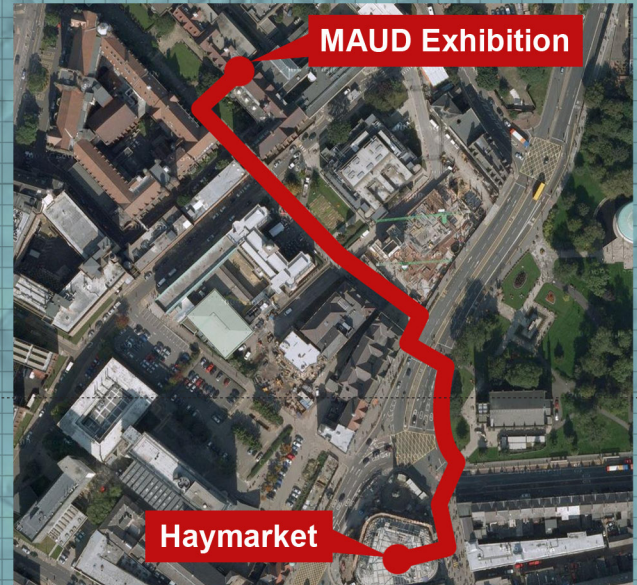

MA Urban Design End of Year Event : Temporary Urbanism

Times of great plans, big investments, and grandiose interventions driven by money have now passed and we don't know when they will return. Urban design, development process and regeneration are taking on new meanings and finding new narratives through the re-adjustment of societal values, from prosperity, marketing and imaging, to "making", personal relationships, wellbeing and resilience. In revitalising places, we are now thinking small, temporary, experimental, testing-out.

Our graduates have come from all over the world, from varying socioeconomic personal and cultural backgrounds. In this past year they have all passionately engaged with these challenges and are in the process of getting comfortable in their new-found identity of practitioners who will influence and be influenced by the world around them. Before they all set off to "the places they'll go" they are inviting you to celebrate the end of a challenging year, showcasing their work over some drinks and nibbles, mingling and discussing urban design!

The event will include presentations and discussion on the topic of Temporary Urbanism by academics, practitioners and students.

Current confirmed speakers: Ali Madanipour, Newcastle University
Amanda Reynolds, AR Urbanism,
Dermot Foley, Dermot Foley
Landscape Architects

Location : Architecture Building, Quadrangle,
Newcastle University

Date: 07/09/2012

Time: 5:30 – 8:30pm (talks start at 6pm)

Please confirm attendance by emailing Karen
Johnson at:

Karen.johnson2@ncl.ac.uk