

PUBLIC ART

DCA 7pm 13 June 2013

You are invited to an evening of talks organised by the Urban Design Group Scotland, exploring how Scotland's public art planning policies can be incorporated into projects with imagination, meaning and response to place.

The speakers will discuss the development process from concept through to implementation, in the context of the Centre for Translational + Interdisciplinary Research (CTIR) project for the College of Life Sciences, at the University of Dundee City, and the exciting collaboration opportunities that have arisen.

Jo White

Project Architect, BMJ Architects

Prof. Mike Ferguson

Dean of Research, College of Life Sciences

Prof. Elaine Shemilt

Duncan of Jordanstone College of Art + Design

Venue: Dundee Contemporary Arts, 152 Nethergate, Dundee, DD1 4DY

Booking Essential: scotland@urban-design-group.org.uk

Free Event. Non-UDG members welcome.

Information: www.UDG.org.uk www.lifesci.dundee.ac.uk/other/ctir/

The event is kindly sponsored by:

tracey
BROTHERS

bmj architects