URBAN DESIGN GROUP

The Urban Design Group (UDG) is a dynamic campaigning membership organisation for professionals who care about improving the quality of life in our cities, towns and villages, and who believe that good urban design is vital to achieving this.

The UDG believes passionately in collaboration. The Group works to bring together all those involved in shaping the build environment – urban designers, architects, planners, landscape architects, policy makers, developers, academics and more - to learn, debate, share ideas and network.

The UDG publishes an acclaimed quarterly journal Urban Design, widely acknowledged as the leader in its field, and runs a year-round programme of events in London and throughout the UK featuring high-profile speakers and covering a variety of themes from masterplanning to housing strategies, public realm to development economics, smart cities to temporary urbanism.

Each year the UDG hosts the prestigious National Urban Design Awards, celebrating the very best in urban design from throughout the UK and beyond. The UDG's Recognised Practitioner designation provides a valuable affiliation for urban designers, proclaiming their commitment to urban design and giving recognition of their specific skill-set.

The UDG depends on the dedicated support of its 1500 strong-membership.

Membership is open to all and, by joining the UDG, you demonstrate your commitment to urban design as well as enjoy a range of benefits, including subscription to Urban Design, reduced admission to events and, for practice members, a listing on the UDG website and in the journal. Our full range of packages for individuals and organisations can be viewed online:
